Schedule For Examinations Set For Seniors, Students

Final examination schedules have been set for 12 B seniors and other students of grades 10 through 12 A.

Senior exams will begin May 24 in the library at 11:30. Other students exams will begin May 29 at 12:30 in the regular classrooms.

Exemptions for 12B seniors have been granted. Seniors may be exempt if all work is complete and they have an average of 85 or better and not six weeks grade less than 80.

All students having a study hall will report to the study hall for the two hour testing period. As usual all students will remain in the examination room for the entire two hours.

Students who wish to remain in the building to study on Monday through Wednesday from 11 to 12:30 may report to the library or to the cafeteria.

Seniors will report to their home-room teachers in the cafeteria on May 30 at three for report cards and graduation information. Students in all other grades will not receive their cards until June 2 at one.

Activity Card Outlined

Most high school students purposefully study for years in preparation for college. One of the newest ways to get socially and economically ready for college is a system in high school similar to the blanket tax in operation at UT.

The Activity Card System in effect at Palo Duro High School in Amarillo, Texas, is an effective way of accomplishing several ends. Like the blanket tax, for one reasonable lump sum, a student is able to attend 10 mixers, 3 parties, 5 dances, 2 full-length movies, 4 concerts, and one 3 act play. In addition, he receives a full subscription to the school paper, the student directory, and the school annual.

Although this one Activity Card gives the student a right to all of these, the cost is only $11.00 for both semesters, $7.00 for publications and $4.00 for the various other things.

Then, if this system that is effective in college also works in a high school of comparable size with McCallum, why could not the same system profit us?

Having paid the one full price for the card, a student would receive a small numbered wallet-sized card with a place for his name, class, and signature on the front. On the back would be a list of the activities covered by the card. Divided into the 2 semesters, a student could easily tell what is covered by the card.

From the viewpoint of the sponsoring organizations, the best advantage to such a system would be the vastly increased attendance to their respective events.

Therefore, if enough of the present sophomores and juniors are enthusiastic about a program of this type, they can express their desire to their various student council representatives. Next, the representatives can bring the matter up in one of the meetings, and with enough support a committee could be formed to really start the ball rolling for '61-'62.

This committee should be a standing one with the main purpose being establishment of the Activity Card system here at McCallum. The committee would have to be formed either at the end of the preceding year or several weeks before the opening of school in the fall. Having already been formed, the committee would have a meeting called by its chairman to accomplish several things.

First, they would contact the sponsors of the organizations here that have regular annual events open to the student body. Having already distributed a circular on the system at the end of the preceding year, the committee members would simply remind the sponsors of the many advantages of such a system.

Second, when the sponsors agreed to the system, the committee could proceed to the actual printing of the cards with the names of the events and sponsoring organizations on the back.

Third, by the first day of the school year committees should already have posters up all over school telling the many fine features of the system and emphasizing the one low, lump sum price.

Fourth, the committee would start the actual sale of the numbered cards on the second or third day of school. The purchasing student's name would be recorded on a sheet with a number corresponding to the numbered cards.

Fifth, after a two week sale, the committee would stop selling and start distributing the money fairly among the sponsors.

Then, the committee would take a break and watch McCallum students have more fun for less money than ever before.

Competition in the Interscholastic Marble Contest has really gotten stiff. Several new rules have been introduced to make the game rougher:

1. All competitors must use square marbles. Last year's octagonal ones are strictly obsolete.

2. New uniforms for contestants. They will wear charrtruse bermudas and orange socks with purple and yellow polka dot shirts. The shirts will have a large Elizabethen collar.

Debate On General Sales Tax Given By Texas Legislature

By DICK PETERSON

The 57th regular session of the Texas Legislature is running out of time. With 90 days left in the session, law makers are faced with the prospect of agreeing on a tax bill large enough to: first of all retire the $63.1 million General Fund deficit; second, pay for biennium appropriation bill which calls for $379.3 million General Fund Spending; and third, to enact all or part of the Hale-Aikin program whose principle feature is a pay raise for teachers. The only possible answer to Texas money problems, at less in the near future, is the passage of Representative Charles Wilson's sales tax bill.

The Texas House passed the two per cent sales tax bill by a 75 to 62 vote. The way it stands at present, the bill exempts food, farm machinery, and prescription drugs from the list of retail purchase items subject to the tax.

The proposed taxing of items purchased over 50 cents offers the aspect of raising some $265 million dollars new revenue during the next two years.

The House was the first barrier in the way of passing a sales tax, and now two more stand in its way, first, the Senate and second, the Governor. Governor Price Daniel has openly stated that he would veto the bill unless drastic changes were made. The governor still backs his tax plans of higher tuition, and shifting of present tax measures, while he goes thumbs down on a sales tax. The governor states he is against Wilson's bill because it places 90 per cent of the burden on family budgets. Although many people take opposing views to the governor, it is still unlikely that a sales tax will be passed.

True, it was a step in the right direction, but many people of Texas do not want to face the fact that better government costs money and that increased taxation is the only answer. There are many types of taxes that could be levied, but the main problem is for people to accept their obligation to support the government.

The needed revenue could be raised by a personal income tax, but the same objection of extracting money from one's pocket gets in the way.

To get back to the present sales tax measure most of the House Representatives including Sandahl, Jones, and Foreman of Travis County voted in favor of backing their belief that there is a need for a broad-base tax increase. The three law makers of Travis county usually oppose any type of sales tax, but they have openly opposed Governor Daniel and sided with the tax, in crying that the burden of the bill would not be on the lower income group. Wilson Foreman gave the example that the bill is very fair in that if a man buys a pair of Levis he pays a tax of about eight cents; if he buys a $200 suit he pays a $4 tax.

Thus the bill taxes people according to the amount of money they are spending. It has been predicted that a average family of four will be taxed about $37 a year if food is exempt. It is evident this sales tax will hardly be noticed by many people if it were passed but it is nearly just as evident that the bill will not be passed unless over the head of Governor Daniel.

Want to save some money? If you do, why not consider having a blanket tax at McCallum. How could a blanket tax save you money? It could help in several ways.

A student who attends all the school-wide activities at McCallum by himself pays about $29.00. These activities include all the dances and athletic events, the plays and pay assemblies, and the Knight and Shield. These are the prices of these activities:

The Laird Dance costs $1.00; the Blue Brigade Formal costs $1.50; the Queen of Hearts Ball and Beauty Review cost $1.50; the FHA Dance costs $1.00; the Coronation Ball costs $1.00. There are about eight pay assemblies each year, at a price of 15 cents apiece. The football games cost approximately $3.00 a year; the basketball games about $6.00; and the baseball games $3.00.

The Royal Court Players present two three-act plays each year, at a cost of 50 cents apiece. Forensic Varieties costs 50 cents; the Pan-Am Supper costs 50 cents; the choral program and spring band concert cost 50 cents each. Hoot Mon books cost ten cents; telephone directories cost 25 cents; and book covers cost 15 cents apiece.

A year's subscription to the Shield costs $1.00; the yearbook costs $5.00.

Many students do not attend these functions simply because they cannot afford to go. Students who wish to go to these activities sometimes do not have the money at the time to attend the function. This problem has been solved in many schools, including the University of Texas, by the use of a blanket tax. This tax is paid at the first of the school year in one lump sum. This has several advantages for students.

For one thing, instead of students having to rely on money which they might not have when an activity comes up, they pay the sum at the first of the year. This means that the students do not have to worry about whether or not they will have the money to pay for a certain function.

This also helps the organizations which sponsor the activities. Better attendance is virtually assured to all the activities because the students have already paid to go, and therefore they have no money problem. Since the organizations can count on better attendance, they are able to reduce the price of admission. This means that the blanket tax itself can be reduced.

Another advantage of the tax is that boys do not have to worry about having money for dates; they are able to buy the tax in one lump sum at the beginning of the year, and therefore have already paid for the activities. The girls also find this to their advantage because they are almost assured of going to the activities, because the boys will have enough money to take them.

Major Works English Class Spends Field Day In Waco

Members of Mr. John Shelton's VI M English class and Mrs. Morgan's VI M English class from Austin High invaded Waco Saturday, April 29.

The trip began shortly after 12:30 p.m. as the Greyhound bus sped away from the Austin High gym toward Waco. After the two-hour trip the group arrived on the Baylor campus and for the next hour and a half they visited the Armstrong-Browning Library-famed as being the largest Browning collection in the world.

The library contained many works written about and by the Brownings and their contemporaries, and many of Browning's poems were illustrated by tall stained-glass windows and engravings on the walls. Many of the personal belongings of Robert Browning and his wife Elizabeth Barrett Browning are also contained in the museum, including the famous bronze cast clasped hands which was a symbol of their love.

After their visit to the library and dinner afterward, the group attended the play "Lazuras Laughed" by Eugene O'Neil, which was the primary purpose of the group's trip.

Produced only once before since the play was written, this play is made difficult to produce by its constant use of masks, the rapid changing of scenery, the inspiring laugh of Lazuras, and its subject matter.

Clubs Highlight Successful Year With Banquets, Parties, Officers

As McCallum's school year soon comes to a close, we students find ourselves in the midst of the hurry and scurry of our last six weeks of the year.

Rushed with many activities, we find ourselves turning to the last moments of this semester, and with these our many clubs, ending a successful year with parties, banquets, and new officers.

One is the Forensic Club whose members have won more honors for McCallum than it is possible to list. Sponsoring the group is Mr. Guy Bizzell, with Dennis Reeves as president. Topping off their year, the club will have their annual banquet May 12. At that time, letters will be presented to the members who have excelled in certain fields.

McCallum's Future Nurses of America will spotlight their new officers May 18 at the Villa Capri. Those in competition are Sally Metcalf and Margaret Lamb for president; Mary Susan Whitmeyer and Millie Cobb, vice-president, Donna Mabry and Joyce Hage, recording secretary; Cherri Larson, Mary Warren, and Berry Thomas for corresponding secretary; Mary Maciejewski, Mary Beth Cooper, Jean Perry, and Jackie Pantier for treasurer; Helen Pampell and Cathy Eldridge for reporter-historian.

April 24 was the date of the traditional banquet of the Science Research club with Dr. I. Spear from the Biology Department of the University of Texas as the main speaker of the evening. This club has had a successful year by placing in several meets.

The Pan American members held their annual banquet April 11. Several U.T. students from foreign countries including Panama, Venezuela, and Columbia took part as speakers and entertainers for the evening.

Those in the club who will be attending Sidney Lanier next year recently elected their officers for the new club. Those chosen were Susan Winstead, president; Steve Rash, vice-president; Diane Porterfield, secretary; and Donna Raumaker, treasurer.

As the year ends, the Latin Club looks back over its many feats of the past two semesters including the Tri-City Banquet of March 17. The group is holding their annual picnic May 10 at Zilker Park. Reigning over the feast will be Mary Ella Wagner and Ronny Yates who have been chosen Calpernia and Caesar for the year.

The Lady Perth Clubs have been busy with the selection of new officers for the spring. Those elected to the offices from the Friday Club are Vaughn Obenhaus, president; Dorothy Jo Craddock, vice-president; Ann Curtis, secretary; and Anita Hubs, treasurer.

Spring is a time of the year, when, more than ever, one enjoys wearing casual clothes.

In the fashion world now, too, this desire is being seen in new and exciting easy styles especially attractive to the teen-age mind.

The Twenties Look is back! But unlike the "sack" look popular a few years back-this new Twenties trend is manifested in styles that are flattering, not just fads.

How are the new styles Twentiesish? They have low, easy-fit waists, short, pleated skirts, and are sleeveless. Aside from being stylish in these new Dresses you'll also be comfortable and cool!

The Junior Shop on the second floor of Scarborough's has a number of these new types of dresses, especially in Mr. Mort Junior Sophisticates.

To fit right in with the easy-fit dress is the skirt and overblouse, and you can find at Scarborough's, any type of over-blouse you could possibly imagine.

New "miracle" fabrics such as arnel and dacron and many others also play an important part in the casual trend because so many of the new fabrics are drip-drying and require no ironing.

A perfect example of this new look is a spring dress at Scarborough's made of arnel. It has a low, easy waist bound by a belt and the top is a bright red and white stripe and is sleeveless. The bottom consists of a short, white, pleated skirt.

Some girls, however, long for full, frilly dresses as spring fever sets in. If this is your case, you will still find your "dream dress" at Scarborough's, for they have many such dresses, and an especially large selection of scoop-necked sundresses, one of the prettiest is in yellow dotted-swiss.

CROSSING Lanes

By Stan McDonald

There was some discussion after the last issue of the Shield whether or not I was justified in predicting that the 1961 Knight football team would win eight out of ten games. Too much? . . . On the contrary, I was told—not enough. I was somewhat shocked by this optimism. I remember spring training last year as well as as if it were yesterday, and I won't concede to anyone that the spirit or optimism for the coming season is any better now than it was then. We felt great—twenty-two seniors on the squad, one of the biggest lines in the state, and experience to boot. In fact, the first annual edition of "Texas Football" predicted the Knights to be one of the close contenders for the district crown.

The Knights played Kimball of Dallas at House Park for the opener. With three minutes left in the game the score was 14-6, McCallum favor. Kimball won 25-14. McCallum won three games that season.

Take this as a warning, Knights. We have the finest coach in Austin, and I hope one of the best schoolboy football teams in the state. Show that the spirit and optimism isn't all skin deep by making the sacrifices that it takes to have a really great team.

Getting a little closer to the present sports scene at McCallum we see that baseball is the big word. With the pitching of Russell Poling and Dick Peterson and the batting of Robert Myers and Danny Clark, McCallum has a 2-5 record so far in the district.

The track team finished its season with the district meet in College Station on March 4. Ronnie Yates and Lester Haines qualified for the regional meet in the mile run and the 880, respectively. Ronnie placed second in the Regional meet to qualify for the state meet. Coach Neil Hector announced his lettermen as Ronnie Yates, Lester Haines, Richard White, Raymond Hammitt, Gordan Lakey (manager), Pat Jones, Dick Streeter, Eddie Peterson, Johnny Greer, Jerry Hanke, Bill Taylor, Lee Ballard, and Stan McDonald.

Ronny Yates Runs At State Saturday

Ronny Yates will participate in the State Track and Field Meet being held at Memorial Stadium this week end. Ronny will be in the mile run in the Class AAAA division Saturday afternoon.

Ronny nailed down his trip to State by placing second at the Regional Meet held in San Antonio. His time for the mile run at regional was 4:39.0. Romo of San Antonio Tech placed first in 4:39.4.

The McCallum School record of 4:36.8 set by Tommy Smith in 1960 could well be broken by Ronny this week-end. He will be shooting for at least a 4:35 clocking.

At the State Cross County Meet held at Hancock Golf Course in December Ronny placed thirteenth out of a field of over 125 contestants.

HITHER HEATHER

Hollywood, look out! Austin may become the new film capitol!

Sound ridiculous? Consider first that Austin is the site for a new movie locally filmed by Ken-San productions called "None But the Brave."

The cast includes Charles Vick and James Brewer, who had a bit part in "The Alamo." The entire cast is made up of local talent who work without pay. The cast works only on weekends, and all filming is done near the Bullcreek area.

Although the company is using amateurs in the cast, they are employing professional cameramen and technicians.

Speaking of movies, the local billings for the week include: The Paramount through May 10—"All In a Nights Work." Beginning May 11 through 17 is "Return to Peyton Place," a sequel to the original.

The State's billings include "Pepe" through May 16 with "Black Sunday" beginning May 17, and beginning May 25 is "One-Eyed Jack."

The billings for the Austin theater include the "Sundowners" through May 6, the "Misfits" through May 10, "Masters of the Congo Jungle", and "Hercules Unchained" are scheduled for May 11 through May 13. "Facts of Life" is scheduled for May 14 through 17.

The Varsity's billings include "Portrait of a Sinner" through May 10. Beginning May 11 and running through May 17 is "The Apartment."
